

About Toxic Mocktail

Musical Identity

Toxic Mocktail blends the power and rawness of classic rock with fresh, modern energy. The songs combine tight riffs and flowing melodies within structured compositions that keep the listener engaged from start to finish.

Although rock is a long-established genre, Toxic Mocktail makes it contemporary: accessible vocal lines over a solid foundation of guitar, bass, and drums create a sound that is powerful and energetic, yet still inviting to all listeners.

Live Experience

Since the summer of 2025, Toxic Mocktail has been performing live with a repertoire of original songs and a few covers in their own style. The shows gave the band a taste of what performing truly means: interacting with the audience and conveying their distinctive energy.

For Toxic Mocktail, live performance is about staying true to their beliefs: with courage and joy, you can do whatever you want. The band aims not only to make people listen, but also to make them feel what music means to them. They want to play and grow – that is the passion and drive behind Toxic Mocktail.

The Future

2025: Studio Recordings

At the end of 2025, Toxic Mocktail will begin their first studio recordings of 2–3 songs, professionally produced and released on Spotify and other platforms. These releases will serve as the foundation for sharing the music and style of Toxic Mocktail.

2026: Album + Tour

In the spring of 2026, the band will return to the studio—this time for their very first full-length album. Featuring 11–12 tracks, refined through experiences in the studio, on stage, and through interaction with fans. A supporting tour will take Toxic Mocktail's music and message even further: from Groningen, across the country, and beyond.

Visual Identity

Beyond the music, Toxic Mocktail places great emphasis on a strong, consistent, and professional image. Through their website, YouTube, and Instagram, they are building a distinctive, self-designed style that completes and reinforces the band's story.

Toxic Mocktail is more than a band; it is a fusion of passion and creativity expressed through a unique style of music and art. Their style is both quirky and accessible. The band aims to perform, grow, and inspire—in a way that invites people to become part of Toxic Mocktail's world of music.
